WHAT IS YOUR CORPORATE LEARNING STRATEGY?

Does your company struggle to find effective methods for training and developing employees?

Do your employees show high motivation and initiative?

Are you losing too many of your rising stars?

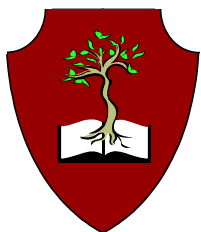

We understand:

- You need well-trained employees to better serve your customers.
- You need to provide consistent training to all your employees.
- You need a way to measure what your employees learn, so you can know what they know... and what they don't know.

We will create Your Corporate University - your strategic road map to continuous and measurable employee development.

We will customize Your Corporate University not only to your industry, but also your company. You select which courses are best suited to your corporate culture and business needs, and we will create the curriculum.

How the Program Works

Employees are given a clear road map to follow, they study the course materials at their own pace, and they are then given a timed, open-book exam to test their knowledge. A corporate degree is earned by completing courses and advancing through the curriculums.

Your Benefits

Participation and progress in the university program increases employee productivity, motivation, and commitment to your company. You will also know what your employees are learning and that what they are learning applies directly to your business needs.

Let's start building Your Corporate University!
