Free Listing on The “World Technology Exchange”

WorldTech Inc. is a Washington D.C., Dulles Corridor-based technology research firm that specializes in scouting for and discovering emerging technologies around the world. On 1 May 2004, WorldTech opened the first-of-its-kind World Technology Exchange. This is a place where eligible governments, companies and universities can come together to conduct free-of-charge information exchanges on their technology needs and offerings. Here is how it will work:

Help Us Spread The Word to Visit: www.worldtechex.com

This ABSOLUTELY FREE Technology Exchange will accelerate transfer of technology around the globe. It will also contribute to the advancement of civilization by making better science available, faster to hundreds of millions of people. WorldTech is available to support participating Government agencies, universities and multinationals to meet their technology needs. Why waste valuable time & resources on discoveries that have already been made? You also want to identify emerging technologies that would put you in a more competitive position. WorldTech supports such customers by discovering and assessing promising technologies that we then bring to the attention of our customers. We also perform due diligence and technology research services at very low, Government approved rates for government agencies. To learn more, please contact:
