Problems with privately held Real Estate Notes... Solved!

NW Note Solutions provides relief to owners of private notes.

Auburn, Washington – May 11, 2005 – In the quickly expanding world of private financing, local businessman Carl Wheeler has made a commitment to help owners of privately held Real Estate Notes and other Cash Flows find solutions to the industry's toughest problems.

More and more people are turning to seller financing to conduct the sale of their Real Estate. There are many good reasons for taking this type of approach. One can find it easy and quicker to close the sale of their Real Estate, not to mention the investment opportunity for the seller. As good as this all sounds, many sellers encounter potentially dangerous problems with the deal.

Many sellers quickly find that promised payments could come to an abrupt end, leaving the note owner with a possible foreclosure situation that they will have to deal with. Others run into unexpected medical bills, college tuition, legal reasons or other investment opportunities that are more profitable, leaving them in need of a way out.

Now, for the first time, Carl Wheeler is giving those sellers a way out. Using a network of more than 300 qualified buyers, Wheeler provides welcome relief for cash starved investors of all kinds. His unique, free quote service is refreshing news for thousands of private note holders in Washington.

At Northwest Note Solutions, Inc. we take pride in the fact that we are cash flow professionals and we make it our top priority to help note owners achieve a better quality life.
