

Unique Product Lets Realty Companies Escape Disaster

Arcadia, CA – September 20, 2005: Not all businesses in the path of hurricane Katrina were destroyed. Some real estate businesses in New Orleans, Mississippi, and Alabama were ready to do business after the hurricane had past by using their Realty Broker Office, an online real estate software and technology.

“As we have been in communication with our clients in that region, the one thing that we are hearing is how relieved and thankful they are for having moved their office to an online solution”, says Jerry Franklin, an executive with Technology Mix. “We are happy that the product is providing them a small piece of mine compared to everything else they have to deal with.”

In addition to letting companies streamline transactions, check on the progress of their agents, and conduct online marketing, the information and documents stored in Realty Broker Office are there forever. This makes it easy for audits, reviewing past deals and document retrieval. More information about Realty Broker Office is on their website at www.RealtyBrokerOffice.com and by calling Technology Mix at (866) 459-4597 x252.

About Technology Mix, Inc.

Technology Mix is a leading provider of real estate software and real estate technology that focus on providing a total manage solution for real estate brokers. With headquarters in Arcadia, California and data centers in California, Minnesota, and Georgia, Technology Mix delivers it client-driven real estate solutions through strategic alliances, internet and a direct sales force. For more information, visit www.TechnologyMix.com

For More Information:

Pat Amos
Phone: 866-459-4597 ext. 201
Email: pamos@technologymix.com

###

Contact Information

Pat Amos
<http://www.RealtyBrokerOffice.com>
866-459-4597 ext. 201