

SOCCERWAY LAUNCHES SPECIAL WOMEN SOCCER SITE

THE HAGUE, 29 Sep – Soccerway - one of the largest international soccer sites - announced the launch of a brand new soccer site dedicated to the women soccer, that rapidly gathers interest and popularity around the globe. As nowadays over 45 million women play soccer worldwide, the need for quality women soccer information is bigger than ever.

The new women soccer section brings a unique coverage of the international women soccer competitions. More than 40 competitions from over 30 countries are covered with up-to-date results, fixtures and league tables. Besides this results information, the latest soccer news and in-depth interviews from the people in the industry are added on a weekly basis. Most of the articles are enriched with photo's and interactive functions for the readers.

Chief editor Hans Willems: “We currently have information from over 600 women teams available and are looking forward receiving relevant additional information from the women soccer teams – e.g. photos, contact addresses, etc. - so that we can further expand the website in the coming period“.

Managing director Arjen Robijn: “We have received many e-mails from women all over the world asking us to provide more information about their competitions. I'm pleased that we can finally offer all those people the serious source for women soccer information that they deserve.”
