XMLAW Announces SharePoint Five-Day QuickStart Program for Law Firms

Law firms can experience a live, functional SharePoint intranet portal customized to their needs in as few as five days

Canton (MA), January 18, 2006 – XMLAW announced today their SharePoint Five-Day QuickStart Program for Law Firms. The program is designed to jump-start SharePoint initiatives by providing a live, functional SharePoint intranet portal in as few as five days. Whether a firm is new to SharePoint or already working on a portal, the QuickStart Program, which includes integration with line-of-business systems and custom-built applications, can be used to accelerate understanding of SharePoint, as a proof of concept, a prototyping tool or the starting point of a firm's portal. A QuickStart portal usually consists of:

- Intranet portal site design, navigation and firm branding,
- Customized Home page,
- Portal areas for a practice group, department and/or office that are integrated with line-of-business systems and shared events calendar,
- Dynamic client and matter workspaces integrated with line-of-business systems and existing custom-built database applications,
- Integrated event management and notification,
- Personal Attorney "My Site" workspaces with My Calendar, My Client & Matters, My Contacts and My Documents,
- 30-day evaluation licenses and introductory training for all XMLAW products used, and
- Technical support during the evaluation period.

The QuickStart Program can be tailored to meet a firm's specific requirements and can be expanded beyond the five days if necessary.

“The QuickStart Program demonstrates the simplicity of implementing XMLAW products and takes advantage of our SharePoint expertise and how it can be used effectively,” said Rob Saccone, President and CEO of XMLAW. “This program is part of our increased commitment to providing complete solutions that combine our products and Professional Services to ensure law firms are successful with their portal initiatives.”

Delivered as a fixed-price, fixed-time engagement, the QuickStart Program offers a low-risk approach to launching a SharePoint initiative, providing a real SharePoint environment with line-of-business system integration to support internal selling objectives, enable rapid prototyping and/or evaluate products and technologies. The Program requires minimal financial investment and limited involvement of firm IT resources.
