JobOps to be Showcased at the Pacific Design & Manufacturing Show

Single Source Visibility of Operational and Financial Information Benefits SMB

January 25, 2006, Minneapolis, MN—JobOps, the Job Management Software solution that works with the award-winning Sage MAS 90 ERP and Sage MAS 200 ERP systems, will be featured in the Sage Software booth at the upcoming Pacific Design & Manufacturing show. JobOps is a business unit of Synergistic Software Solutions, a wholly-owned subsidiary of BDO Seidman, LLP. At the event, users will be exposed to JobOps, a job management solution that addresses the needs of small to mid-sized business that need to more efficiently manage operations, workflow and profitability of projects.

Kevin Cooper, JobOps Director of Marketing and Business Development will be on hand to meet with Sage business partners and customers who require a solution for improving custom job management processes using an integrated approach.

According to Kevin Cooper, "JobOps is intended for customers who need to integrate job management and tracking with the Sage MAS 90 ERP and the Sage MAS 200 ERP systems. The combined solution is intended to give users better control of their job profitability and on-time delivery from a single source for financial, operations and job management functions."

The show is at the Anaheim Convention Center in Anaheim, California from January 31–February 2, 2006. The Pacific Design & Manufacturing Show is a prominent West Coast design and manufacturing conference and tradeshow where leading suppliers of automated manufacturing solutions gather to exchange information and show new technology solutions.
