Super Bowl Betting – Squares Offers A Fun Way To Enjoy The NFL Odds
The NFL line and NFL point spreads can be profitable in the Super Bowl with this sports pool option.

The Super Bowl will be here shortly with the hard-hitting Steelers against the high-flying Seahawks. It's the incredible Ben Roethlisberger versus NFC passing champion Mark Hasselbeck. It's NFL MVP Shaun Alexander against Willie Parker and the Bus. The Steelers are an early 4-point favorite but a number of experts think the game could go either way.

Estimates are that Super Bowl betting will hit all time records. People will be betting their favorite and betting the nfl line and nfl point spread. But there is another option, sports pools, and particularly the Super Squares Pool, for the individual who just wants a fun and easy option.

CoolSportsPools.com new site at www.CoolSportsPools.com provides a fun and easy way to enjoy football betting. Rather than being seen as a sports bookmaker, the web site is more of a sports pool promoter. And the Super Bowl is popular. To celebrate its new site, CoolSportsPools is offering a 10% bonus to all individuals who open a new account.

"The first three weeks of the NFL playoffs weekend were fun, and we had some interesting pools going on with some surprise winners," said David Rippe, president of Celestia International, a marketing firm. "We have created a fun environment where the average person can fulfill his sports betting desires without the hassle and pressure of dealing with Las Vegas type, high-pressure bookmakers,” he continued.

“Our research showing us that many people, including college students, like the idea of competing in sports pools with their friends and co-workers, has been confirmed. We’ve developed a solution that doesn’t require a big investment but can return relatively large winnings. Activity is really picking up here with the Super Bowl.”

The Pittsburgh Steelers (the new “America’s Team”?) versus the lesser known Seattle Seahawks. It makes no difference what the NFL odds are...the NFL line (or NFL point spread) can be used to an individual’s advantage.

“The idea of wagering a small amount, say $5, against your friends and others, makes the sports betting experience more fun and exciting,” David Rippe continued. “Our idea is to offer online sports betting pools in all of the active sports when they’re being played. Of course, football betting, culminating in the Super Bowl, is the ‘hot topic’ right now.”
