

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

February 18th, 2006.JAB Web Solutions Announces New Range of Packages.

(CARDIFF, UK) Furthering our expansion through 2006, JAB Web Solutions, a UK-based dedicated web hosting company, is proud to announce the launch of their new range of sixteen, Linux-based, Plesk hosting packages.

By tailoring these packages into one of four groups – Mail, Home, Professional and Reseller – prospective customers can now find one that will suit their needs, large or small.

“Many of our customers have very specific requirements, and our previous range of packages had a tendency to greatly exceed those requirements. Through the introduction of our new mail-based packages, the M105 and M205, and of our new entry-level Home package, the H25, customers now have a greater choice of starter plans, and all for under £20 per year,” says Andrew Thomas, Sales Director of JAB Web Solutions.

The H25 costs just £19.75 per year (including VAT), equating to an remarkable £1.65 per month, and includes 2.5Gb of monthly bandwidth, 512Mb of web space, 10 mailboxes (all with independent Spam protection) and has features such as POP, IMAP and SMTP access, webmail support, a MySQL or PostgreSQL database and SSH console access.

All packages can be upgraded easily, allowing customers' accounts to grow with your needs. JAB Web Solutions is also looking to provide different package add-ons in Q2, providing customers with the ability to add on extra disk-space, bandwidth, domains, databases, (etc.) whenever they need it.
