

CBDMT Announces Collaboration Agreement with BioAdvice

PARIS, May 29, 2006 -- CBDMT.T® Ltd. (<http://www.cbdmt.com>) today announced that it has entered into a strategic collaboration with BioAdvice Ltd. (<http://www.bioadviceonline.com>). Under the agreement, CBDMT.T® and BioAdvice will not only identify but also audit some potential future partners or innovative technologies to be acquired or developed by their customers.

This strategic collaboration is in line with our customer's expectation of identifying innovative, relevant and industrially applicable technologies to be successful in the product innovation race. It will be focused on technologies and/or biotechnologies fitting with the improvement and the development of innovative products in the Life Science, Chemical and Cosmetics markets.

CBDMT.T® and BioAdvice will develop a mapping of innovative technologies from the biotechnology areas which could be applied in New Product Development (NPD) or/ and in Product Improvement (PI). Furthermore, they will identify and select the most relevant, rewarding projects and initiate collaboration for operational implementation (product development plan and follow-up tools).

"Product innovation is central to success in the industry. The convergence of biotechnology, chemistry and agresources has already opened doors to innovations that will revolutionize the industry, from industrial manufacturing to production of chemicals and consumer goods. Working with BioAdvice will allow us to help decision-makers in industrial markets to make the right strategic choices to initiate real innovation programs with scientific, process development and intelligence marketing perspectives", staid Philippe Tramoy, Managing Partner, CBDMT.T®.

"The combination of expertise achieved through this collaboration will further our customers' strategies validation and is expected to lead to concrete innovative product development such bio-carbohydrates and target compounds for the access of new renewable building blocks. We are already in discussion with a company leader, for which the turnover speed of its products is key, in order to consolidate these approaches." said Claude Bensoussan, Chief Executive Officer, BioAdvice.
