New Service Makes It Easy and Affordable to Share All of Life's Special Moments

New York, NY – CityCast Media, LLC. introduces: OurWeddingCast.com (OWC) to provide brides, grooms, and videographers with the tools necessary to share wedding day videos through the power of Podcasting and Webcasting.

No longer do wedding videos have to sit on the shelf and collect dust! OurWeddingCast is making it easy for Brides and Grooms to share their special day with friends and family around the country and around the world! OWC allows family and friends to easily share these special life memories by simply clicking a link! OWC 's solutions offer the ability to take these special memories to go on various portable media devices, such as any laptop or the Apple video iPod.

OurWeddingCast 's service allows Brides and Grooms to watch their wedding video from anywhere and to share their video with friends and family who were unable to make it to the wedding, as well as for those who want to re-live the special occasion from the comfort of their own home. Additionally, OWC makes it easy for friends and family to affordably share life 's other special memories, milestones, and moments through the power of online video Webcasting and Podcasting.

CityCast Media 's new OurWeddingCast service is being managed by Jamie Bass, who explained, "I think that the (OurWeddingCast) service is a wonderful resource for brides and grooms who work really hard to put together their perfect day. This is a great way for them to re-live that day and share it with their friends and family in an extremely easy, affordable and portable way. "
