

BiggerPockets.com Adds Powerful Home Valuation Tool Powered By Zillow.com

Real estate investing portal, BiggerPockets.com, to provide homeowners with property values and comparable home price information.

Sherman Oaks, CA (PRWEB) August 16 -- BiggerPockets.com, the popular real estate investing web site, now makes it easy for homeowners to assess the value of their own property as well as comparison shop other home prices using data and home values powered by Zillow.com, a web site with information on more than 67 million homes in the U.S.

This powerful new tool adds to the “one-stop shop” approach that has made BiggerPockets.com one of the largest real estate investing web sites.

BiggerPockets’ customers will be able to get a map and satellite view of their property; local comparable home values; a one year home value chart; and, get a Zestimate, an estimated market value using Zillow’s proprietary formula.

By going to <http://www.BiggerPockets.com> and entering their address in the Property Values & Comparable Home Prices box, or, by going directly to <http://www.BiggerPockets.com/homevalue/> consumers can easily access data that, prior to Zillow.com, would have required a real estate agent.

“For our loyal users, the addition of the Zillow home valuation tool is yet another reason to use BiggerPockets for their real estate investing needs. And, for those not yet acquainted with BiggerPockets.com, this provides an exciting reason to explore all the valuable tools and resources found on the site,” said Joshua Dorkin, founder and President of the Los Angeles based information web portal.

In coming months, BiggerPockets plans on adding new features that will aid buyers, sellers, renters and investors.
