SARASOTA, FL – The Doorway to Dance instructional DVD series is now available to the public. The series, hosted by dance champion celebrity Patricia Dore, is a fun, easy-to-use guide that teaches anyone – at any skill level – how to dance like a pro. The unique series teaches participants basic Ballroom and Latin dance steps, and each Volume progresses into more advanced steps and techniques. Dances covered in the series include the Foxtrot, Swing, Waltz, Tango, Rumba, Cha Cha, and Mambo.

In the spirit of the recent learn-to-dance craze celebrated on television networks nationwide, the four-part series focuses on dancers' confidence and comfort in social situations. Patricia Dore's unique teaching techniques are a focus of the series, setting it apart from other instructional dance videos; the result is a dance instruction series that has you up and dancing in minutes.

Dore engages students by guiding them one-on-one through each workshop in a fun and simple format. With experience teaching at The Juilliard School and the New York Swing Dance Society, as well as working with several soap opera stars, Dore encourages dance partners with helpful rhythm tips and expansions on basic lessons. "Patricia Dore is such a gifted teacher and really has this great on camera presence, being able to engage her audience in such a way that the viewer becomes totally immersed in the program and really understands the lessons." says Christopher Keeler, Executive Producer of the series. Frank and Herminda Young purchased the DVD series and said, "Patricia was very easy to follow and was not intimidating at all. We were up and dancing within minutes. It's really a great teaching tool."
