

BCS ProSoft and iLumen Announce Strategic Relationship

Delivering Financial Insight with Industry Specific Analysis and Benchmarking

San Antonio, TX—October 19, 2006—BCS ProSoft, a leading provider of business management technology solutions, and iLumen, Inc., today jointly announced a strategic relationship to provide the iLumen Financial Information Network to its small and medium sized business clients. This partnership was announced at Perspectives 2006, BCS ProSoft's User Conference in San Antonio, TX.

"BCS ProSoft is dedicated to providing our customers with a total solution for their financial and business management needs," said Russ Graf, Vice-President of Business Development for BCS ProSoft. "Our customers will benefit from the unique insight into their own companies as well as their industry through the iLumen Network. iLumen's trending analysis gives business owners a dashboard to monitor their financial performance throughout the year and financial benchmarking allows them to compare their performance with industry averages."

"As a top Sage Software reseller committed to helping their customers get results, BCS ProSoft is an ideal partner for iLumen Network," said Robert H. Woosley, Chief Executive Officer of iLumen. "Members of the iLumen Network are part of an online community unlike anything that has previously been available for the private sector. Access to comparative data, industry expertise and discussions groups with peers enable network members to make better business decisions."

"By partnering with iLumen we are furthering our position as leaders in the market place and our commitment to our customers," said Graf. "iLumen will help us deliver valuable financial insight for our customers to make better business decisions."
