Stratum Global and Lowry Computer Products Accelerate RFID Innovation with New Partnership

Littleton, CO. — October 24, 2006 — Stratum Global, a leading RFID solution provider, today announced it has entered into a distribution agreement with Lowry Computer Products, a leading provider of AIDC, RFID and labeling solutions. With this partnership, Lowry adds Stratum Global's TagNet RFID solution to their extensive portfolio of technology products. Both companies see the RFID market as an evolving segment that requires constant innovation to provide end users with state of the art solutions.

"With the continued growth in the RFID industry, across all sectors and frequencies, a partner with the technological experience and breadth of Stratum Global is a great fit to the Lowry RFID solution set and we are excited to add them to our diverse partner list," said Mike Lowry, President and CEO of Lowry Computer Products."

Lowry's RFID solution set now includes Stratum Global's TagNet RFID solution suite. With an open architecture, TagNet is a scalable, platform agnostic, release focused RFID software solution suite. In its second release, TagNet has full multilingual capability, supports object networks and includes specialized modules for advanced features like RFID enabled lift trucks, tagging stations (conveyors) and auto deployment capability to RFID devices. With extensive RFID implementation experience, Stratum and Lowry's knowledge base will serve as a fundamental framework for product advancements.

"Lowry is a recognized leader in the RFID space and we look forward to advancing this relationship," said Bill Hood, COO, Stratum Global. "Lowry's position in the market will bring tremendous value to our internal team, our end users and our business partner channel – this synergy will accelerate innovation."
