Since 1988, over 5,600 businesses and organizations have trusted SQLSoft+ to deliver best practices IT training, consulting, skills management, and services.

At SQLSoft+, we recognize that agile organizations are adept at quickly identifying and adopting technology. They add value for their customers and build a competitive advantage.

Our customers are among the most agile organizations in the world, and they demand the same of us. SQLSoft+ continually monitors the technology landscape and positions itself squarely in the path of new technologies and new skills management techniques. We utilize the technology we teach in our day-to-day business processes -- and use this knowledge to provide increased value for our customers.

Throughout its existence, SQLSoft+ has committed to provide leadership in the crucial adoption of technologies that create competitive advantage and business value through client consulting and technical training leadership. We've executed on this commitment by establishing a company culture which demands integration of People, Process, and Technology -- the result of which is a company steeped in technical capabilities that can integrate new technologies readily and transfer that knowledge effectively to our customers.

This approach has invariably led us to a series of "firsts". Here is a partial list:

+ First Microsoft Learning Services Partner to be authorized to use the Microsoft Assessment for Organizations tool
+ First training partner to be invited into the MPSC and to provide certification exam testing on the Microsoft campus
+ First Gold level Microsoft Learning Services Partner in the Pacific Northwest
+ First and largest provider of training services on Microsoft's Identity Integration Server.

One of the ways SQLSoft+ has maintained its premier position as an IT skills provider has been to stay abreast of the burgeoning use of Information Technologies in all organizations. To meet this demand, SQLSoft+ has partnered with companies it considers to be best of breed in specific technology areas that complement our own capabilities and to carefully integrate the relationships of our broad range of service offering. This ensures that our customers are getting the best quality training from experts and can move efficiently between various areas of IT expertise.

SQLSoft+ is a Microsoft Gold Certified Partner for Learning Solutions, the first in the Northwest. Gold requirements include higher levels of developer certification, deep real-world experience, and customer reference projects independently verified by Microsoft. Our instructors average more than 10 years of technical expertise and are available for comprehensive implementation and development consulting as well as custom training engagements. All this ensures the training you receive from us is of the highest quality.
