

PRESS RELEASE FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Freelance Projects part of the CMather.com Hosting and Design Solution

Melbourne, Australia (PRWEB) December 15, 2006 -- Chris Mather - Group Operations Manager, announced the revamp and integration of Freelance Projects an online project management and procurement database to it's existing hosting and design solutions. "Why spend hours looking over tenders and contracts when you can place your project online and get hundreds of project bids within a few hours?" said Chris Mather.

CMather.com Projects is unlike any other project management tool. Webmasters can place their projects online and programmers can bid for the work. Just like an online auction site, the programmers bid for your project. The project manager or webmaster has full control to pick the right programmer, right price and the right fit for their projects.

"In today's competitive world, Procurement and Project managers want cost effective ways to control, run and monitor projects. We give you full control over the project including escrow payments, private messaging and the option to screen programmers prior to starting work" said Chris Mather.

Freelance projects works in two ways, Project managers posting work for our programmers and Programmers bidding for online work. "Talented programmers are always wanted, now you can register your interest and get paid for every completed project", said Chris.

Programmers in the following fields are welcome to signup for free: Perl/CGI, PHP, ASP, C/C++, Java, JSP, JavaScript, XML, Cold Fusion, Flash, Python, Visual Basic, .NET, Script Installation, Website Design, Graphic Design, Search Engine Optimization, Translation and Data Entry.

Would you like to get involved with CMather.com Projects? It's easy and best of all it's free to signup. Visit us online <http://www.cmather.com/project/> and see how you can place or bid on a project within the next few minutes.
