

The American College Alumni Association

NATIONAL FINANCIAL AWARENESS DAY

On Tuesday, March 6, 2007, The American College will celebrate the birthday of our founder, Dr. Solomon S. Huebner, by continuing a superb alumni event – National Financial Awareness Day. Across the county, generous alumni will donate their time and expertise by offering pro bono consultations to individuals in their community.

Each year, professionals participating in National Financial Awareness Day encourage consumers to protect their financial security. This year's theme focuses on the need for disability income protection.

Key Benefits:

- Promotes the value of professional financial advice.
- Raises awareness of your American College credentials.
- Increases recognition of the devastating impact disabling events can have on family finances and businesses.

Plan to Participate!

Register for the event and we will mail a participant's kit to you in January 2007 with important information about National Financial Awareness Day and this year's disability insurance theme.
