With continued consolidation, private labeling, and consumer demand for aftermarket cartridges causing shifts in distribution channels for these products, aftermarket vendors need to plan and adjust to maximize sales and profits. Lyra's analysts will present market forecast data and results from Lyra's 2006 Western European research study into aftermarket ink jet cartridges and desktop ink jet media. Attendees will also gain Lyra analysts' perspective on specific issues most important to them in a 40-minute question-and-answer session.

This event is held on the day before the Remax 2007 exhibit floor opens, to allow attendees the opportunity to network with imaging industry colleagues before the pace becomes hectic at the trade show.
