Zjantelle Cammisa Markel is an Australian attorney whose interest in the international business community has led her to practice in both Australia and in the world's leading capital cities: Sydney, London, Rome and New York. Her international experience has made her knowledgeable as to European cultural and business practices, as well as those of Australia and America. She is admitted to practice in both Australia and New York.

Since Mrs. Cammisa began working in New York in 2000, she has continued to represent international clients and has specialized in immigration and nationality law. She has assisted many international corporate executives, investors, highly skilled workers, artists, entertainers, athletes and academic scholars in obtaining employment-related non-immigrant and immigrant visas. Her largest clients are corporations and individuals in the finance, hospitality, advertising, entertainment and sporting industries. Ms. Cammisa also represents a number of prominent New York City hotels in all their immigration related matters.

Prior to moving to New York, Ms. Cammisa worked for a prominent immigration law firm in London, where she represented European and American companies and individuals on U.S. immigration matters as well as U.K. immigration issues.

In Australia, Ms. Cammisa counseled domestic and international clients on acquisitions, dispositions, restructurings, corporate governance and financing. She broadened her corporate experience in Rome, where she reviewed complex legal and financial documents in English and Italian.

Throughout her career, Ms. Cammisa has also kept an active involvement in representing clients in relation to media and entertainment related issues. She works closely with production companies, independent record labels, musicians, athletes, artists, foreign producers and directors, magazines and writers. While she has assisted them with drafting and review of contracts, Ms. Cammisa now primarily assists them with their immigration related matters.

Ms. Cammisa is fluent in Italian and conversant in French.
