

Automated Rental Management (ARM) Software Announces Integration With ASG Cypress Document Management Solution

Rental management software from BCS ProSoft now integrates directly with leading document management solution from ASG Cypress.

San Antonio, TX—February 11, 2008—BCS ProSoft, a National Partner for Sage Software, and publisher of ARM (Automated Rental Management) for Sage MAS 90 and MAS 200 ERP today announced the integration of ARM with ASG Cypress Document Management, an electronic document classification, storage, retrieval, and routing system that operates directly from within ARM.

An informative Webcast is being held to showcase the integration on Tuesday, March 4, 2008 at 12:00 PM CST. To register, visit www.bcsprosoft.com/webcasts.

Integration between the two solutions means that users can electronically store and access all documents related to a rental or sales contract, including the signed contract, invoices and signed delivery/pick-up receipts. Users may elect to save every subsequent version of a customer contract, providing a unique and valuable way to track changes.

"We all have the goal of operating leaner and more efficiently, and ARM and Cypress together helps companies achieve that goal by streamlining the management of the everyday documents they rely on," said Clark Haley, president of BCS ProSoft. "The rental business has always been paper intensive, and this integration allows companies not just to reduce paper, but to efficiently organize, store, and retrieve the vital documents they need to run their rental businesses."

ARM is a full-featured rental management and accounting system that enables rental companies to access timely, accurate financial information and maximize staff productivity. Its development is the culmination of years of experience, and the input and suggestions of rental professionals. ARM builds on the award-winning Sage MAS 90 and MAS 200 ERP accounting software for core accounting needs, adding several rental-specific modules and deep rental functionality. ARM is a comprehensive rental solution with features like customizable screens and reporting, graphical delivery/service routes, and periodic equipment maintenance tracking.
