

For Immediate Release

Red Planet Media, Developers of JumpIn, the Mobile Social Network, Steps Up into New Office Space

Red Planet Media, Inc., developers of JumpIn™, the mobile social network, announces the company's move to a suite of new offices in Orlando, Florida. The new headquarters are in the historic Angebilt Centre in the heart of the vibrant downtown Orlando social and technology scene.

Orlando, FL (PRWEB) March 5, 2008 – Red Planet Media, Inc., the developers of JumpIn, the mobile social network (<http://jumpinmobile.com>), has just completed a move to a new suite of offices in the historic Angebilt Centre in downtown Orlando, Florida. The Angebilt was the tallest building in all of central Florida when it was built as a hotel in 1924 and remains an icon of downtown Orlando today. At the corner of Wall Street, the only pedestrian-only street in downtown Orlando, and Orange Avenue, the downtown's primary thoroughfare, the Angebilt is home to dining and nightclubs at the street level. In its upper floors, the Angebilt holds some of Orlando's top service, law and technology firms including the University of Central Florida's Downtown Technology Incubator.

The Angebilt in Downtown Orlando – Home of Red Planet Media, Inc. and JumpIn

“Red Planet Media is all about connecting, entertaining and empowering people with JumpIn,” said Dean Fresonke, President of Red Planet Media. “The move of our offices into the very heart of Orlando's business and social scene is perfectly in synch with the vision behind JumpIn itself.”

Red Planet Media's new corporate address is 37 North Orange Avenue, Suite 650, Orlando, FL 32801. The phone number remains 407-956-2190 and the fax number remains 407-956-2182.

About Red Planet Media

Red Planet Media, Inc. interweaves the power of social networking with the multi-media capabilities of mobile phones to create a more connected world. Red Planet's flagship product JumpIn connects people through an engaging array of interactive features and is rapidly proliferating through North, Central and South America, fueled by its mobile phone-centric design and effortless support of Spanish, Portuguese and English. Red Planet's JumpInMobile.TV channels enable the cross-border proliferation of mobile multimedia, ranging from professional broadcast to the camera phone video from the girl next door. Learn more at <http://www.redplanetmedia.com/>.

JumpIn is a trademark of Red Planet Media, Inc., all rights reserved.

FOR FURTHER INFORMATION, PLEASE CONTACT:

Oscar Bravo, +1.407.432.3485, obravo@redplanetmedia.com