Corporate Services Announces Executive Forum Event

Event geared toward senior executives and will focus on strategies to improve profits in asset-dependent businesses

Baton Rouge, LA – March 17, 2008 – Corporate Services LLC, developers of TrakQuip™ and RTMS, the premier equipment and rental software applications, will host the Executive Forum event on May 2, 2008 in Houston.

The Executive Forum will focus on strategies to improve the financial performance of asset-dependent businesses and is open to all senior executives. The event will feature two speakers; Grant Getman, CPA and Jim Wichterman.

Grant Getman is the former CFO of a very successful business who has walked in the shoes of senior executives. He is the founder of Enterprise Design Group (www.enterprise-design-group.com) and has significant experience with successfully turning around troubled companies. His presentation will focus on optimization, managing costs, measuring utilization and how to maximize the investment made in people, equipment and technology.

Jim Wichterman is a senior consultant with Management Action Programs (MAP – www.mapconsulting.com), a firm dedicated to accelerating sustainable growth for its clients. Additionally he has served MAP as the CEO and Chairman of the Board. As an executive for numerous companies in diverse industries, including healthcare, travel, food and insurance, Jim has directed or contributed significantly to a number of profit turnarounds. His presentation centers on leadership development and uses the film Twelve O'Clock High as a basis.

"We are thrilled to have both Grant and Jim share their knowledge, expertise and lessons learned with the attendees at the Executive Forum," said Michael Saint, Corporate Services' president. "We know this event will be impactful and attendees will walk away with at least one strategy to be more profitable."
