

Biography

Thomas F. Anglero, Founder and CEO of WiHood AS

Mr. Anglero was one of the very first Internet Telephony (VoIP) pioneers beginning in 1994. Now, after seeing the Internet Telephony industry through to maturity, Mr. Anglero is once again using his innovative thinking, global experiences, and passion for being a father to create WiHood; an exciting solution to the complex daily challenges parents encounter with their children and the internet.

Prior to WiHood, Mr. Anglero was a Senior Advisor to the executive team at Telenor AS (Mobile operator), CEO of Truly Global Inc. (a Vocaltec Comm. Co. – NASDAQ: VOCL), and CEO of Free World Dialup (World's First P2P VoIP phone company).

Mr. Anglero is a Puerto Rican American born and raised in New York City and moved to Oslo, Norway in 1996. Mr. Anglero is married with three children. Mr. Anglero is a triathlete, skier, and the head coach of a boys' basketball team.

Blog: <http://blog.wihood.com>

WiHood AS

WiHood is based in Oslo (Norway). WiHood was incorporated in August 2007 and has been honored to be awarded funding from Innovation Norway (a division of the Norwegian government providing funding only to Norway's most innovative companies).

WiHood was founded to bridge the digital-divide amongst children while protecting them online using Web 2.0 thinking (Web Services and Cloud Computing technologies). Additional information can be found at <http://www.WiHood.com> .