eQuote Car Insurance today relaunched their website, eQuoteCarInsurance.com, a site that helps consumers find and compare free car insurance quotes online. The site has two main focuses - providing its users with fast and accurate car insurance quotes and providing useful and informative information to allow its visitors to make an informed decision when choosing car insurance.

Many insurance sites today provide a poor overall user experience. Some do not provide instant quotes and instead the consumer is hassled by phone calls for weeks from various insurance agents all asking the same questions in order to provide a quote. Others do not provide enough resources to inform the consumer about different types of coverage and what they can do to save on car insurance. Finally, plenty of sites do not offer comparison shopping on auto insurance. They provide 1 rate, their own, and if the consumer wants to go elsewhere, they have to start from the beginning of the process.

That is where eQuoteCarInsurance.com is different. The site has partnerships with 15 insurance agencies to provide real time comparison shopping on car insurance. Users enter their information on one secure form and within seconds receive up to 4 rate quotes allowing them to decide which insurance company is best for them. The site also provides useful information on car insurance and car insurance companies within its Learning Center. With eQuote Car Insurance, consumers can find the right insurance for them in a quick, simple and secure location.
