

Process Servers in Demand Due to Economic Conditions

In Wake of Nationwide Demand, ServeNow.com Acquires ProcessServers.com

Denver, CO (PRWEB) July 1, 2008 -- Due to the current economic conditions, there has been a rise in litigation, foreclosures and collections - all which has increased the demand for process servers. In wake of this demand, ServeNow.com is proud to announce that it acquired ProcessServers.com. The acquisition will strengthen ServeNow.com's ability to help legal professionals find local, pre-screened process serving professionals throughout the United States and Canada.

"This is an exciting milestone for our company," said Mike MacDonald, ServeNow.com Brand Manager. "We're now able to offer process servers the opportunity to reach more of their potential clients, and legal professionals an additional place to find local, pre-screened process servers."

Using local process servers is the most efficient and cost-effective way to execute a service of process. When dealing with cases that are outside of their area, many firms continue to turn to their "local guy" or a nationwide company, but that is not the best method. Using a local server lowers the costs to law firms and their clients. With local process servers, papers are served faster, and legal professionals are able to communicate directly with the process server regarding the case.

ProcessServers.com is one of the most prominent sites in the process serving industry. The acquisition of ProcessServers.com further solidifies ServeNow.com brands as the premier places to find local assistance for process serving needs. In addition to ProcessServers.com, ServeNow.com also acquired the International Process Servers Association and FindPIs.com, which will supplement PInow.com, an international directory of pre-screened private investigators.
