

As a general and vascular surgeon, I have cared for patients with vein problems for thirty-five years. This book is a gift of knowledge about how to keep your legs healthy and strong so they can carry your brains around. As you know, information is power. We all want to die old with the youngest body. My book gives the reader the power to choose intelligently what to look for, when to seek a doctor, and which vein treatments are the most effective. It is fun to read as I have included some funnies from my practice. My book will also teach people how to obtain reimbursements from insurance companies and how to play their games of denial and delay. It will also give you my perspectives about universal health care as I practiced in countries where it has been adopted.

Born in Winnipeg, Canada, I graduated from the University of Manitoba with the degree of Medical Doctor (MD). Internship was done at the Los Angeles County General Hospital with subsequent post graduate studies in general and vascular surgery with the University of Minnesota and the Tucson Hospitals Medical Education Program. Following my studies, I went into the practice of surgery in Glendale, California. I was involved in the trauma centers at Hollywood Presbyterian and St. Joseph Hospitals. I performed charity work in Israel following the six-day war. I developed a specialized practice for the treatment of vein diseases. I have pioneered techniques used today for the treatment of unwanted veins. My practice is in Thousand Oaks, CA, and Fresno, CA.
