

aLoveLinksPlus.com Announces New Recommended Online Dating Services

aLoveLinksPlus™ has been reviewing online dating services since 1999 and is proud to recommend these newly reviewed dating services and announce two new contests.

Vancouver, BC, Canada (PRWEB) August13 2008 – aLoveLinksPlus.com, a leader in the online dating industry, is proud to announce recommendations of dating services that have been recently reviewed.

"We have completed reviews and found the following online dating services to meet or exceed our requirements for recommendation" says Robert Lee, editor and owner of aLoveLinksPlus.com.

Guardian Angel Dating
Totally Free Dating Service
DatePetLovers.com

Robert Lee says "The web continues its growth of so-called "Plenty of Fish" (www.plentyoffish.com) killers, dating services that aim to exist on only advertising revenues, not membership subscriptions.

"While any free service is great news for online users, with the growth of these free dating services that are crowded with advertising, the likelihood of users finding dating success diminishes with each new service that comes online further fragmenting member bases and requiring more research on a user's behalf of which dating service to join, at what cost and what availability of compatible members.

"aLoveLinksPlus.com reviewers keep a close watch that these free services are designed and marketed in a manner that will not only allow them to success as quality dating businesses online but that our recommendation carries weight to our visitors to help them find the right dating service for their particular personal requirements.

"Dating is to one person what romance is to another and aLoveLinksPlus.com's goal is to determine which dating service offer is the best way to help someone find their match online within a reasonable amount of time in the style of dating that they are accustomed to meet others."

aLoveLinksPlus.com is also pleased to announce a partnership with www.Astrology.com that allows people to visit the aLoveLinksPlus.com website and, after selecting their astrology sign, join Astrology.com for a free daily horoscope.
