

OMDCnet®

A Global Trade and International Business Information Portal

Overseas Market Development Corporation

Introducing OMDCnet® Portal

OMDCnet® is a global trade and international business information portal that is owned and operated by Overseas Market Development Corporation.

The OMDCnet® portal provides a wealth of information and market intelligence for companies looking to develop or expand international business.

One key feature is our Global Directories of qualified manufacturers, importers, retailers, and sales representatives that help companies find new sources of products, distribution partners, and sales representation in international markets.

The core portal target audience is made up of executives at manufacturing companies, import firms, global retail chains, exporters, sales representatives, bankers, freight providers, trade associations, government trade organizations and others involved with cross-border trade.

Features of the OMDCnet® portal:

- Country portals
- Extensive global business tools
- News, articles and information relevant to international business
- Ratings of all companies listed in our Global Directories
- Customized global business and information search engine
- Directories with links to leading global manufacturers, importers/distributors, retailers, sales representatives
- Over 30 directory categories with links to international business service providers
- Job site for those seeking employees or employment in the field of global trade
- Discussion forum
- Members may submit their company information, news, articles and a website link for inclusion on the portal (subject to editorial approval)

Benefits of the OMDCnet® portal:

- Comprehensive source for global business information
- Selective editorial screening of information for relevance and quality
- Global visibility for companies, brands, and products when Members post their information or website links
- Reduced time and cost to develop new markets and build global alliances

While some sections of the site are viewable without registration, to enjoy a richer experience and to access a large part of the portal's content, we invite you to register. OMDCnet® registration is free and easy through a brief form. Once registered, we encourage you to become an OMDCnet® Member, which provides more exclusive features and benefits.

You can reach the OMDCnet® portal at www.omdcnet.com. We hope that you find it a valuable source of global business information.
