

Total Control

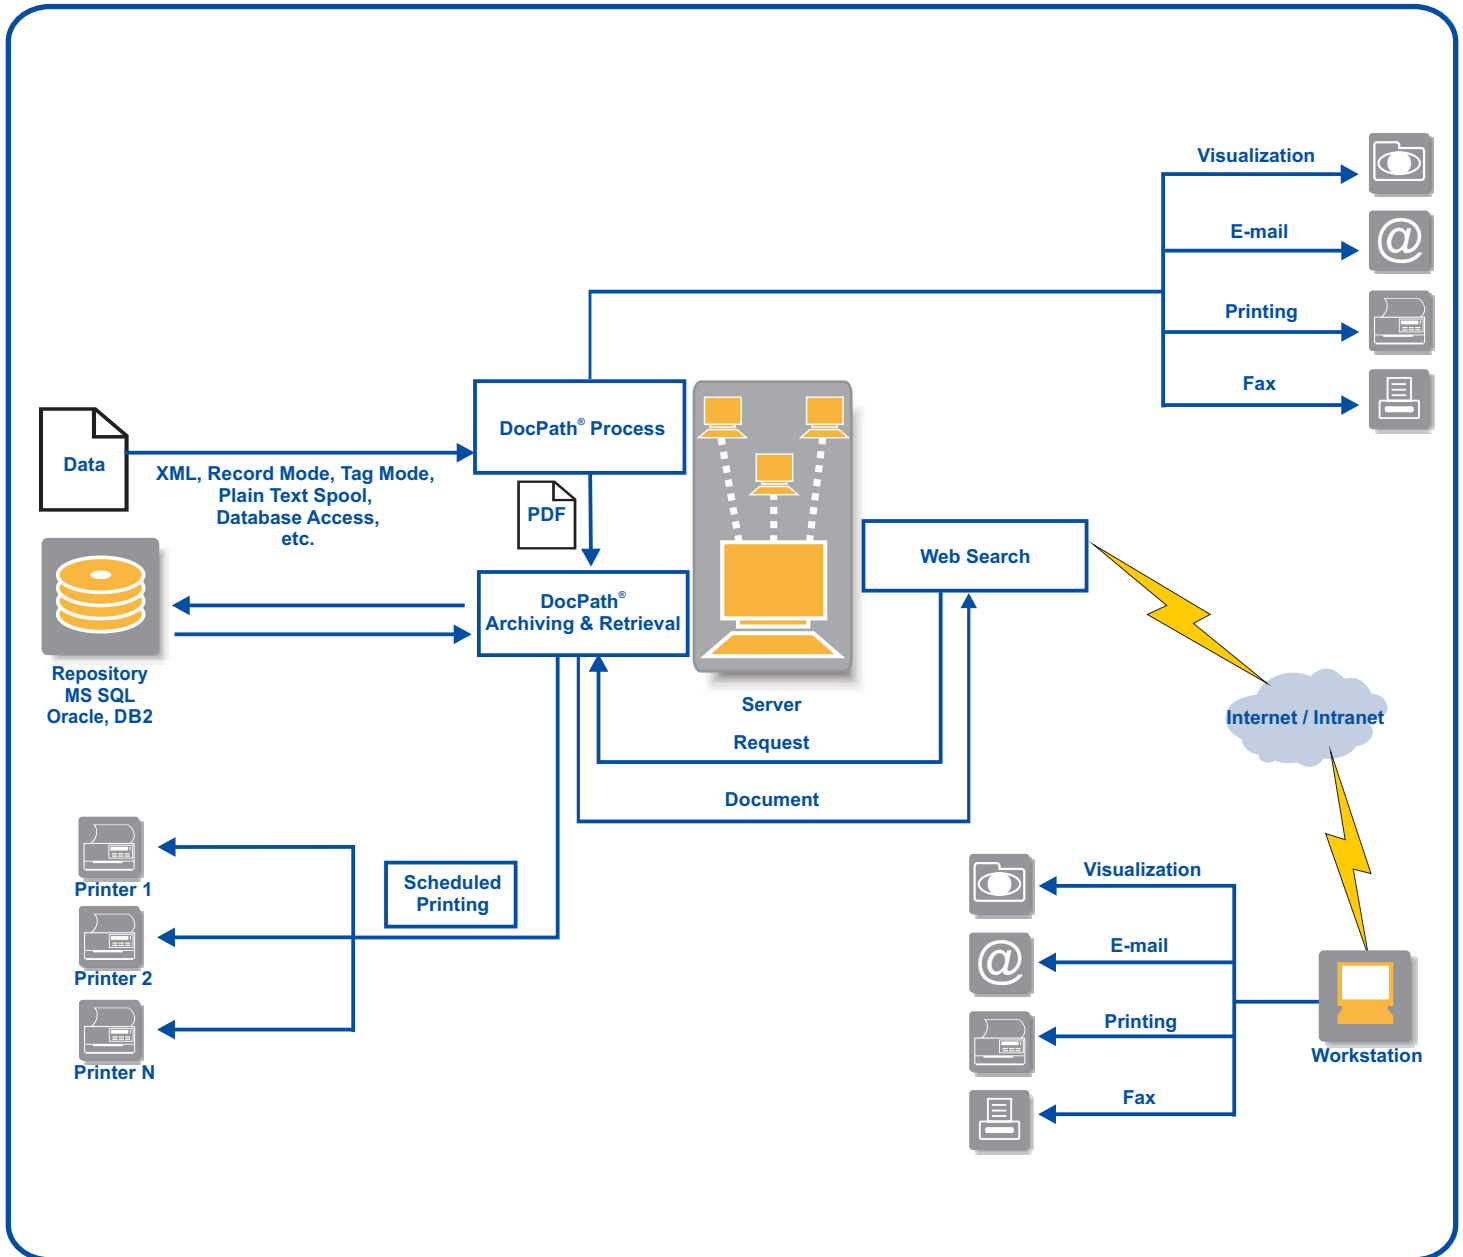

Control the generation, output and distribution process of your documents

Total Control is a Solution that gives users a complete system for document generation, distribution, archiving and retrieval with total control and security.

Why DocPath® Total Control?

Because...

- The company will be able to generate documents and control the printing process, including scheduled or deferred printing.
- You will be able to turn the documents over to third parties or intermediary agents without losing control.
- You will have a digitalizing system with electronic signature, especially useful for the logistics and distribution sector and industry areas, as it facilitates access to all the documents, to the final user as well as to administration personnel and other affected departments, under total control.
- It provides great savings in administration and printing by considerably reducing document printing.
- Different users, which are previously authenticated by the application, can have access to a repository from a remote office. They will be able to retrieve the same document for online printing, viewing or emailing, and even so, the company that originated the document will not lose control of it.
- You will be able to save documents, once generated, with a printing date and a designated printer.
- Documents deleted by users will only be marked as deleted. Actual deletion will be realized by a previously scheduled batch process.
- You will be able to access documents via totally personalized document indexes.
- You will have absolute control over access and work done to documents, as every action is recorded.
- You will be able to put the documents in the hands of your clients and business associates immediately and securely.
- You will be able to eliminate certain centralized printing costs since printing is performed by your clients or business associates, on their equipment.
