CodePartners Announces Business Development Addition

Dallas, TX – January 27, 2009 – CodePartners, a software development firm, is pleased to welcome David McKee to the company in a Business Development role. In this position, Mr. McKee is responsible for developing new market opportunities for CodePartners.

A veteran consultative sales and business development executive, Mr. McKee’s most recent positions were with firms focused on custom application development and professional services. He has extensive experience developing new strategic business markets and managing relationships. Mr. McKee has worked with all sizes of businesses, from Fortune 500 to small entrepreneurial-spirited companies. Prior to joining CodePartners, he was the Chief Sales and Marketing Officer for a start-up consulting services company. Mr. McKee is a graduate of the University of Texas where he was an All-American Athlete and attended on a full athletic scholarship.

“We are thrilled to continuously add talented and experienced people to our team,” said Brian Terrell, CPA and founder of CodePartners. “David brings a wealth of knowledge and understands how technology can vastly improve efficiencies and operating effectiveness in a business. Last year CodePartners’ revenue was up 150% from the previous year. We believe with David as part of our team revenue will continue to grow.”

CodePartners is committed to providing outstanding service to clients with the addition of exceptional employees. They continue to grow steadily and carefully.
