

Delane Pennington

Author Bio

As an educator for twenty years and mother of five children—with fourteen grandchildren—Delane Pennington values the life experiences and personalities that make every child unique!

Delane holds dual education degrees from the University of Nevada. She is a Reading Recovery Certified Teacher and endorsed to teach English as a Second Language. A longtime elementary-level teacher, Delane now is director of special services and ESL coordinator at Silver State High School in Carson City, Nevada. She also teaches Sunday school, works in the church nursery, and serves as an adult literacy tutor.

Delane and her husband live in Washoe Valley, Nevada, where they own and operate an organic apple orchard, the only commercial apple orchard in northern Nevada.

Book Recap

Now I Am in . . . Kindergarten, first in a series of grade-level memory books, allows parents and children to partner together to create a meaningful, attractive record of the first year of school. The book includes pages for your child's writing and math samples at different points throughout the year, drawings, photographs of special friends and events, and lists of favorites, firsts, and important milestones like first book read and first field trip.

Interview Questions:

1. You like to say that memories keep the color in life. Can you explain what you mean by that?
2. Why is a kindergarten memory book significant?
3. Why are memory books important?
4. What compelled you to develop a line of school memory books?
5. Who is the target audience for your book?
6. What do you see as the purpose of your book?
7. How does preserving memories benefit children?
8. Is it ever too late to start recording memories?
9. How can this book benefit schools and PTAs?
10. Can you share a special kindergarten memory?

For more info, or to schedule an interview please contact:

Abigail Davidson | 360.802.9758
abigail@winepressgroup.com

