stay informed on clients through Dialog NewsRoom, an email-based news alert service. You can also save results in your own online history archive and create folders for special groups like prospects and donors. There is no wait; results are posted within seconds.

FindWealth Screening Services—for small to large numbers of donor or prospect records. WealthEngine's unique process, called Loop Analysis, runs your records through our data sources over and over again as each new piece of information is found so no detail is missed. Once Loop Analysis is completed, we apply statistical models to calculate ratings and scoring. The result is clear, comprehensive information that you can take from desktop to donor meeting.

Each screening is customized by the volume and extent of detail that you need:

Step 1: Basic—reviews all records to assign ratings for giving capacity, influence, inclination, propensity to give, and planned giving. The results are often used to:

- Develop planned giving or direct marketing mailings. For example, after reviewing onehundred thousand records you can use the Basic Profile to determine your top ten-thousand planned giving prospects
- Develop an overall strategy for donor segments

Step 2: Insight—provides more detail on giving capacity components and propensity to give scores. These profiles:

- Help you segment your file into annual fund upgrades and your most promising prospects
- Identify individuals with strong links to your organization and/or philanthropic inclination
- Search key words

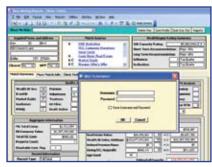

Step 3: Beyond—comprehensive profiles for developing cultivation strategies. You use it to project ask amounts for your major gift prospects. The detailed profiles are essential to several major gift activities:

- Find links to similar charitable efforts
- Identify in-the-money stock options due to expire in 90 days
- Develop well-planned ask strategies

COMPANY BACKGROUND

WealthEngine.com's roots date back to 1991, when its predecessor company—Prospects of Wealth & Resources (POW&R)—began to serve non-profit and financial organizations with a revolutionary wealth identification tool. In early 2000, the entire company was overhauled and our products were redesigned to take advantage of new and promising research technologies.

Soon our internet-based research service, FindWealth Online, was launched to provide the financial services and nonprofit sectors with immediate access to some of the most well-known publicly available databases. By late 2000, POW&R completed its transformation and began doing business as WealthEngine.com.

In 2005, WealthEngine extended its programs to the United Kingdom to create the first international research vehicle through its FindWealth Online UK and associated screening service products. WealthEngine also merged with a leading research company, Wealth ID (formerly a division of Thomson Financial), to become the largest provider of database/technology solutions to the financial industry. Today, WealthEngine offers the broadest range and highest quality of data sources, the strongest technology and the most experienced staff in the industry.
