CodePartners Announces Participation in Sage Insights Conference

Dallas, TX – April 16, 2009 – CodePartners, a software development firm, will be exhibiting at Sage North America's annual partner conference, Insights. The conference is May 11-14, 2009 at the Gaylord Opryland Resort and Convention Center in Nashville, TN.

This is the sixth consecutive year CodePartners has exhibited at the conference. Attendees can visit CodePartners at booth #338 in the trade show hall. At the booth, CodePartners will feature their popular component catalog, which lists numerous ready-to-use applications for Sage Accpac ERP and SageCRM. CodePartners offers custom development services for Sage products in addition to integrations, Web development, and application development.

CodePartners is sending five people to Insights: Brian Terrell, CPA and founder; Bin Feng, president; Kristi Feng, project manager; David McKee, business development; and Meredith Gooch, marketing manager.

"We look forward to our annual pilgrimage to Insights," said Brian Terrell, CPA and founder of CodePartners. "It gives us the opportunity to have face time with the businesses we work with and the chance to talk about how we can help them be more successful. We hope to see not only familiar faces of partners we work with on a regular basis, but also meet new Sage partners who can benefit from a development team focused on quality and top-notch service."

Sage Insights draws 3,000 attendees from across the globe. Attendees have the opportunity to learn about future product strategy, network and share ideas, and visit the trade show exposition where they will meet solution providers that can extend their product offerings thus making their clients more successful. This year's conference will feature a keynote from baseball Hall of Famer, Cal Ripken, Jr.
