

HEALTH ALERT!

Science has shown cell phones carry harmful bacteria and should be cleaned regularly.

What's Dirtier, Cell Phone or Toilet Seat?

Your Cell Phone Is a Breeding Ground for Bacteria

abc NEWS 8/4/2006

"Some cell phone users may get a skin rash in reaction to the nickel in their cell phones, a condition that the British Association of Dermatologists has dubbed 'mobile phone dermatitis.'"

Oct. 17, 2008 WebMD

Doctors warn of rash from mobile phone use

"Doctors baffled by an unexplained rash on people's ears or cheeks should be on alert for a skin allergy caused by too much mobile phone use, the British Association of Dermatologists said"

—Reuters 10/16/2008

10/16/2008

Has your cell phone given you a rash?

Experts are warning - if you have an unexplained rash on your cheeks or ears - it could be caused by your cell phone. It's a new medical phenomenon called "mobile phone dermatitis"

—ABC7

Unexplained Rash Linked to Cell Phones

Fox News, 10/17/2008

Are Cell Phones Germ Breeders?

A British microbiologist claims the average cell phone carries more germs per square inch than doorknobs, the soles of shoes, even toilet seats

CBS

Doctors and health experts urge cleaning your cell phone regularly. The trademarks and logos above are the exclusive properties of their respective owners and in no way support, endorse, or are affiliated with CleenCell® Wipes or AreYouTalkingDirty.org, but appear solely to help validate and raise awareness of a very real and remarkably undeterred health risk recently termed Mobile Dermatitis by the British Association of Dermatologists. Over 70% of cell phone users admitted to text messaging from a bathroom, hospital or fitness club. Give this card to a friend and encourage them to Practice Good Mobile Hygiene with periodic cleanings of their cell phones. Are YOU Talking Dirty?™