A NEW DIMENSION OF STUDENT SUCCESS

Starfish and eTutoring.org

Connect Your Students to Their Success

Ensuring that your students reach their greatest potential requires that your institution knows which students need help, and then be able to provide that help in a timely manner.

Working together, Starfish® and eTutoring.org give your institution an unparalleled opportunity to connect your at-risk students to their success. Through simple integrations with your course management system (e.g., Blackboard), the joint solution:

- Automatically flags underperforming students based on their grades, missed assignments or other criteria that you define.
- Notifies at-risk students via email and provides convenient access to academic support.

At-Risk Student Identification in Real Time

Starfish is a leading provider of student success systems, offering a collection of software solutions that harness the power of the campus community in order to engage, motivate and graduate more students—securing valuable tuition revenue through student retention. Specifically, our solutions help your institution identify at-risk students in real time, based on their daily academic performance in your course management system, and then connect them to the resources designed to help (e.g., advising or tutoring)—all while assessing which services and interventions are working.

Online Tutoring Without Staffing or IT Burdens

eTutoring.org provides an online tutoring consortium that gives your students the academic help they need, when they need it. Your students can conveniently access a tutor online, in real time. They can also submit questions for a tutor to respond to later or get help with a writing assignment. The tutors are staffed by member institutions within the consortium—reducing the burden for your institution. And the centrally hosted application alleviates additional IT expense while ensuring data security. Your institution can join an existing collaborative—or create your own collaborative for a system or group of institutions.

Starfish and eTutoring.org. Easy for you, invaluable for your students.
