

MYARTSPACE.com launches world's first 7 X 24 Live Streaming Contemporary Art Channel

MYARTSPACE.com, the premier online network for the contemporary art world, launched a very innovative streaming contemporary art service available 24 hours per day.

Palo Alto, CA (PRWEB) August 24, 2009 – MYARTSPACE.com, the premier online social network for the contemporary art world, has announced the launch of MYARTSPACE.tv, a site providing live, 24-hour per day streaming contemporary art and music.

Catherine McCormack-Skiba, the founder of MYARTSPACE and CEO noted “With our incredibly rich collection of contemporary art from our 60,000 artists we represent, we have a unique ability to launch rich and interesting new art services to the viewing public. MYARTSPACE.tv allows people to enjoy very high-quality, curated contemporary art in their web browser 24 hours per day. The diversity of work is also unique, with artists from over 116 countries being represented in our community.”

The live streaming fine art service is combined with a music playlist constructed on Playlist.com. The service is interactive. Clicking on the art as it streams by allows art appreciators to learn more about the artist and purchase work from them.

The screenshot shows the MYARTSPACE website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for Artists, Galleries, Images, Blog, and Initiatives. A search bar is located on the right. Below the navigation bar, there is a large image of a street scene painting by Oliver Winconek. To the right of the image, there are several advertisements for art-related services, including Gallery Picture Hanging, Gregory R. Miller & Co., Original Art, All Styles, and The Art of Everyday Joe. Below the advertisements, there is a music player for 'myartspace.tv's Playlist' featuring a list of songs and a play button. The playlist includes songs like 'Come On Get Higher' by Nathanson, Matt, 'Iris' by Goo Goo Dolls, 'Over My Head' by The Frey, 'bubbly' by Colbie caillat, 'Womanizer' by Britney Spears, and 'Dead And Gone' by T.I. ft. Justin Timberla... The music is provided by PLAYLIST.COM.

Brian Skiba, Chief Technology Officer at CatMacArt Corporation, the producers of the MYARTSPACE site notes “This is a first step in an interesting new direction for contemporary art, and the way in which an audience can interact. Ultimately we see specialty fine art channels being rolled out – for photography, sculpture, mixed media, painting. We also see a variety of platforms and devices from which we can leverage including high-definition television, the iPhone, and other internet-connected devices. And finally, we’ll work towards availing dedicated channels for museums and galleries to offer a means of attracting a broader, younger audience to the contemporary art world.”.

The stream art service is available free at www.myartspace.tv.
