

Health Collection

A new ally for allied health professionals

For authoritative allied health and nursing content, look no further than the Informit Health Collection.

Read more at www.informit.com.au/health

Developed in response to the growing demand for Asia Pacific health information, this Collection provides full text access to core content from the region.

Content includes peer reviewed journals and evidence based research not readily available elsewhere which will be of benefit to students and professionals alike.

Subjects covered include:

- » aboriginal and indigenous health
- » addiction and rehabilitation
- » ageing
- » child health
- » dietary and nutritional services
- » disability
- » disease prevention and control
- » mental health
- » nursing

Health Collection

A new ally for allied health professionals

Informit Health Collection provides instant, cover-to-cover access to core allied health and nursing content. Content includes research articles, reports and case studies of practical support to anyone studying or working in therapeutic, diagnostic and preventative health roles.

Why subscribe to the Informit Health Collection?

Benefits

Core content – essential information for the allied health sector

Unique material – access peer reviewed journals, reports and eBooks unavailable elsewhere online

Established – over twenty years of backfiles means you won't overlook important archive content

Accessibility – find previously hard to find material quickly

Comprehensive – benefit from cover-to-cover access to all full text articles

Email alerts – track subjects and titles of interest to you

Additional benefits for librarians

Integrated – link to Informit content from your library catalogue

Current – RSS title feeds keep you updated when new titles are added

Measurable – monitor usage statistics via Informit Admin

Customisable – manage display options, linking preferences and authentication with Informit Admin

Remote access – support users working outside the library

Journals covered include

- » Aboriginal Islander Health Worker Journal
- » After Abuse
- » Breastfeeding Review
- » Childrenz Issues
- » Critical Care and Resuscitation
- » Environmental Health
- » Geriaction
- » Grief Matters
- » Health Information Management Journal
- » International Journal of Disability Management Research
- » Journal of Complementary Medicine
- » Nursing.AUST
- » Sport Health

For a full list of titles visit www.informit.com.au/health

Start searching

Access the index data, free of cost via the Informit interface:
<http://search.informit.com.au>

Request a quote or free trial

Access to the full text is on an annual subscription basis. Request a quote or free trial via www.informit.com.au/trial

Over 70 Informit® databases to choose from

Search, research and discover core and unique content from the Asia Pacific region. With a wide variety of subject databases to choose from, a subscription to Informit increases the diversity of your collections and fills gaps left by other content providers.

Informit databases include A+ Education, Business Collection, Engineering Collection, Health Collection, Humanities & Social Sciences Collection, AGIS Plus Text (Law), Australian Public Affairs - Full Text, TVNews and RequestTV.

Read more at www.informit.com.au

About RMIT Publishing

RMIT Publishing is the largest provider of authoritative content from the Asia Pacific region. A preferred partner for content providers, RMIT Publishing collaborates with publishers, government departments, research institutes and others. Through its Informit brand and online platform, RMIT Publishing provides easy access to core content and specialist research not readily available elsewhere online.

Read more at www.rmitpublishing.com.au

RMIT Publishing is a business unit of RMIT Training Pty Ltd – a wholly owned subsidiary of RMIT University.