You are awesome, I look forward to doing business with you again!. Sales Operations Manager

Fantastic news, Jake. Thanks so much for the assurance on these NAA conference tote bags. Also, wanted to let you know the National Coffee Association pens were a HUGE hit. We literally had to hide them from some attendees, as they kept coming in droves, grabbing them by the handful each day. Thanks again for making this all happen for our team. You guys are the best to work with!!

"Our Creative team has developed a great relationship with Prewards Ltd. Whether it's finding a unique product or determining a better way to produce a piece, we rely on their creativity and experience. Their customer service and attention to detail is unparalleled in the industry. With their assistance and collaboration, our inhouse designers won several American Graphic Design Awards from Graphic Design USA magazine. These awards are a true statement to the McDonald's and Prewards Partnership."

Creative Services Manager McDonald's Corporation We would like to introduce the "Prewards Experience," which is our vision of what a fullservice promotional products company should be.

We could use statistics and lengthy mission statements to explain this approach, but we prefer to sum it up in one simple phrase: Our job is to make your job easier.

All of our business practices and company values stem from that one phrase. If we are able put a little time back into your day and maybe take some stress off of your shoulders while we're at it, then we're doing our job. So how do we accomplish this not-so-easy task?

"Always There" Communication - During business hours, there is no such thing as voice mail at Prewards. We strive to make ourselves available each and every time you call so that, no matter the urgency, you can have complete confidence that someone will be here for you.

Product Choice Assistance and Summaries - If we've heard it once we've heard it a thousand times: "I need something unique for our next promotion but I don't know what." Don't worry about it! Our extensive product database (750,000 products!) allows us to create vast presentations with only a small amount of initial input needed. We'll do all the work of finding great ideas for your next promotion.

Project Management - For your multi-item projects and events we put everything into an editable spreadsheet with images, descriptions, and pricing so that you can see the entire project at a single glance. What could be easier?

Relentless Follow-Through - Your project will be followed up on inhouse every day, multiple times throughout the day to ensure that everything is going smoothly and your products arrive to you as requested and on time (or before!).

Solutions, Not Problems - Let's be honest. No matter how good a company is, problems will always arise. The key, though, is how to react to those problems. Nine times out of ten, when there has been a problem with your project you won't ever even know about it because we do everything possible to resolve the issues in a way that leaves you, the client, completely unaware that anything happened in the first place! In those rare situations where we have to alert you to a problem, we come to you with all possible solutions, not just a mere statement of the problem.

These facets and many more make up the "Prewards Experience," which is our vision of what a promotional products company should be. It's simple, it's enjoyable, and it's what keeps our clients always coming back.

However, the only way to really understand the Prewards Experience is to...well...experience it! Give us a call today and let us show you how easy your next promotion can be!

DESIGN / MEDIA SERVICES

In the midst of the NAA conference workshops, I wanted to take a quick break and thank you for the excellent work on the canvas tote bags. We gave our McDonald's keynote presentation yesterday morning and each participant was incredibly grateful for the high-quality and very durable Passport 2 Play bag. More importantly, however, was how impressed our client and colleagues from Scripps were.

Our original areas of concern (i.e. the P2P logo color fade, black piping and partner logos) came out wonderfully. Thank you SO much for your attention to detail and fantastic follow up with this project!!

Also, wanted to let you know the National Coffee Association pens were a HUGE hit. We literally had to hide them from some attendees, as they kept grabbing them by the handful each day. Thanks again for making this all happen for our team. You guys are the best to work with!!

PROJECT / EVENT SPREADSHEETS

One of the greatest Added Values at Prewards is our expertise in handling multi-product projects and events. If you wanted to, you could choose to request all your own quotes from all of the different vendors that provide your desired products. You could follow through with said vendors from the outset of the order, through the proofing stages, to the final shipment and delivery of those products. You could choose to spend the time it takes to organize stacks of order acknowledgements, proofs, purchase orders, tracking numbers, etc. If you chose to, you could spend hours and hours on all of the above.

OR, you could just allow Prewards to handle everything!

When assisting with your large projects and events, we provide a detailed Excel sheet (example pictured at left) that contains all relevant information on a couple sheets of paper. We can show you what you ordered (with description and images), how many you ordered, the unit price, total price, tracking numbers, delivery date, and any other information you would like included!

Everything is right there, so that you have easy access to any information you need regarding your project – it's just another one of the methods that Prewards uses to make your work day easier!

VIRTUAL SAMPLES

You've heard it a thousand times, yet it still rings true:

A picture is worth a thousand words!

You already know that promotional products are a fantastic way to keep your company and/or brand in the eyes, hands, and minds of your intended audience. However, without a logo those promotional products are just...products! If you provide us with your company logo, we can take that logo and digitally place it on almost every single one of 650,000 products we offer then send that "virtual sample" to you via email. What better way to make a significant impact at your next presentation?
