

News Release
February 23, 2010

Contact Information:
Sandy Slowey
(303)453-8318
sandy@magpieti.com

Magpie Sales Professional Recognized For Excellence and Leadership, Welcomed By Colorado Communication and Technology Professionals

MAGPIE TI, Denver, CO – February 23, 2010 - a leading provider of software engineering services is pleased to recognize significant accomplishments by Debora Langer, Magpie Senior Director of Sales. Ms. Langer has joined the Communications and Technology Professionals as their newest board member and has been recognized for her sales excellence in the prestigious Colorado's Top 25 Most Powerful Salespeople ranking by Colorado Biz Magazine.

Ms. Langer is a long time telecommunications professional and upon joining Magpie in 2007, assumed responsibility for revenue expansion in their flagship industry vertical. "In spite of depressed economic conditions, Debora consistently produced impressive results and enters 2010 with high expectations for major revenue growth," says Elaine Pelletier, Magpie Vice President Sales. "This recent industry recognition acknowledges her outstanding leadership, unbounded work ethic and sincere commitment to customers and colleagues: a rare combination that generates exciting opportunities for Debora and for Magpie every day."

The Communications and Technology Professionals, or CTP, is a non-profit organization that focuses on promoting growth, innovation and leadership of communications companies and individuals in Colorado. In her role as a board member, Langer will help CTP accomplish its mission through knowledge sharing, networking and collaboration amongst members of the communications ecosystem. Given her market specialties in Conferencing, Unified Communications and Mobile Telephony, Langer is a natural fit as the CTP Programs Co-Chair. By leveraging her many contacts and personal relationships, she will drive membership and organize vital networking events where participants establish meaningful, new contacts.

On being named to the CTP Board, and earning a spot on Colorado's Top 25 Most Powerful Salespeople list, Langer says, "It's all about making great business happen in Colorado."

About Magpie

Magpie is a leading provider of software engineering services and is widely recognized for in-depth technical skills, proven experience and customer-centric values. Magpie engineers engage as a trusted extension of engineering teams in small and large companies that span a wide range of industries including communications, smart energy and healthcare. Magpie provides services to develop software that meet customer requirements for presentation, firmware, application services, network management systems and communications solutions. Magpie delivers quality results when companies want to accelerate their ability to deliver new functionality, leverage rare expertise or meet market-driven demand. Magpie is privately held and headquartered in Denver, Colorado. For more information, visit www.magpieti.com.

###