

Pandora Corp. is pleased to bring you the

PD Pandora Internet Safety Symposium!

Educators, law enforcement personnel, child welfare organizations, community leaders and PARENTS everywhere know that Internet safety is at the top of today's list of parenting concerns. And why shouldn't it be? We let our children use a machine that connects them to the entire world - but more importantly, connects the entire world to them and your home.

The benefits of the Internet spread far and wide; but for as much good as it has brought, there are those who use the internet to do bad things, including prey on children. From Internet predators to thieves to cyberbullies to illegal downloads to kids themselves doing naïve but dangerous things like "sexting," the dangers associated with the Internet are many and they are REAL! Parents need to think twice before allowing the children to use the internet without monitoring what they are doing.

Pandora Corp., makers of PC Pandora computer monitoring software, in association with nationally recognized child advocate, Maureen Flatley, and her team at Flatley McNeil and Associates, want to help you educate and discuss online safety in your community. So, we created a comprehensive Internet safety symposium, available to anyone looking for or in need of materials to educate parents and discuss online safety in their local community.

Here's the scoop...

WHAT: The PD Pandora Internet Safety curriculum is an informative and customizable 90-minute safety seminar that analyzes the common threats children and families face online every day. The symposium covers Internet predators, cyberbullying, peer-to-peer file sharing, social networking and more, as well as solutions that will help any 21st century parent. The complete package consists of a full PowerPoint presentation, read-along script, 6-page parent hand-out for distribution and marketing materials.

WHO: Our PD Pandora Internet Safety Symposium is designed for any parent group, community organization or law enforcement body that is in need of concise but thorough Internet safety materials for a planned, requested or desperately needed community meeting on the topic.

WHY: Education is the first step. An educated community is a strong one.

COST: ABSOLUTELY FREE!!!

But here's the icing on our cake...

INCENTIVE: Pandora Corp. is giving a lucrative incentive for local community groups to hold PD Pandora Internet Safety meetings. If you help us promote PC Pandora computer monitoring software (which will be available to parents at a discounted rate), 40% of every sale will be given back to the hosting organization!! This makes the PD Pandora Internet Safety meetings not only educational for parents, but beneficial for the organizations hosting them!

If you are ready to talk Internet safety in your community and need materials, come to us!

If you are in need of a fundraiser for your group, and are tired of selling candy bars or chotchkies from a flyer, come to us!

Make 2010 a safer year for kids on the internet... and raise funds in the process!

Bring the PD Pandora Internet Safety Symposium to your town!

For more details, head to our PD Pandora Internet Safety webpage at www.pcpandora.com/pdpandora, where you can view a sample of the presentation and fill out the short online form to get started. You can also email us directly at PDPandora@PCPandora.com

