Lindner Capital Advisors Renews Support of Professional Cycling Team

Marietta, GA (March 10, 2010) – Lindner Capital Advisors (LCA) will again be the title sponsor for the Lindner Capital Advisors Cycling Team, based in Jacksonville, Florida. This is the third year of title sponsorship for the LCA Cycling Team, whose season runs from February to October. A professional cycling team, they travel and race throughout the southeast and are preparing to kick off the 2010 season in March, with races in Daytona Beach and Gainesville. On April 24, 2010, the team will be competing in the Athens (GA) Twilight Criterium race, which draws 40,000-50,000 spectators every year. In September, they will compete in the Marietta (GA) U.S. 100K road race, another highlight of the southeastern bicycle racing season.

“We help investors pursue their dreams of living their lives fully, said Robert J Lindner, CEO of Lindner Capital Advisors. “What better way to express that aspiration than the pure joy, freedom and exhilaration of cycling? We are delighted to once again sponsor the Lindner Capital Advisors Cycling Team.”

The six-member team is unique because they all hold full-time jobs outside of racing. They are dedicated to the sport of cycling not only for the opportunity to race at a professional level, but also as a means to promote cycling as a healthy, environmentally-friendly transportation alternative.

“We appreciate Lindner Capital Advisors’ support of a grass roots sport like cycling,” said Team Director Jeff Kopp. “Our sponsors enable us both to promote the sport and to attract younger riders into participation in an active, healthy lifestyle. We want everyone to consider riding a bike instead of driving their car whenever they can.”
