CRUISE GUESTS CAN TOUR SEATTLE WITH RENAISSANCE SEATTLE HOTEL "SEE TO SEA" DEAL

Before or after a cruise, guests can tour the port city of Seattle on a Grayline shuttle as part of hotel special, which includes accommodations for two in a corner king suite.

Seattle, WA – (06/04/10) – The city of Seattle is a major port city for cruise lines, particularly those en route to Alaska. Whether returning to Seattle or preparing to leave, cruise line passengers are invited to participate in the Renaissance Hotel Seattle "Sea to See" offer. The package includes a transfer for two from or to the SeaTac International Airport on a Grayline Shuttle, a corner king suite accommodation for two at the Renaissance Seattle Hotel, and a tour of Seattle on a Grayline Shuttle. This special deal can be reserved online and is available now until September 30, 2010. Interested parties should visit <http://www.marriott.com/hotels/hotel-deals/seasm-renaissance-seattle-hotel/?offerInfo=479407>.

The 3-½ hour bus tour of Seattle begins at the Renaissance Seattle Hotel and takes guests throughout the city. From Pike Place Market to the Space Needle, the Seattle city tour allows guests to explore the city either after a cruise or before embarking. The tour ends back at the hotel, where guests can enjoy stunning views of the Seattle skyline, Puget Sound, or the nearby mountains from their room.

In order to qualify for this special offer, guests must book their reservation a minimum of five days before their stay. Guests must also provide a valid e-mail address at time of booking so that the hotel can send out a voucher for shuttle transportation. This offer is not valid for groups of 10 or more.
