IT'S HOW YOUR CLIENTS WANT YOU TO PRACTICE

ContractExpress.com is the world's first premium document assembly solution to be offered as a cloud or "software as a service" platform. It builds on the proven and trusted DealBuilder™ technology from Business Integrity™ which is used by many of the world's leading law firms and corporate legal departments.

General counsel are requiring more efficiency from their departments and more value-based billing from their law firms. ContractExpress.com allows legal teams to create (and re-create) documents much more quickly. Legal teams can now provide value for their internal and external clients based on quality work product rather than hours worked. Corporate law departments can do much more in less time and law firms can move off the hourly bill while becoming more profitable.

ContractExpress.com enables users to quickly and easily design and deploy automated documents, enabling complex legal documents to be drafted, accurately and efficiently in minutes rather than hours. Cloud delivery allows individuals and organizations to deploy the software easily and without set-up costs, new infrastructure or the hassle and cost of IT support.

Documents in minutes not hours

With ContractExpress.com lawyers are able to respond faster, more effectively and more consistently to the demands of their business or clients. The time consuming task of editing a fit-for-purpose document from a standard form is eliminated and replaced with an intelligent questionnaire, which captures the terms of the transaction. Questions are only asked if required, and are only asked once. One click can reconcile hundreds of occurrences of optional text nested to any depth, each of which would otherwise need to be individually considered and manually edited in a Word document. Complex documents that take many hours to edit in Word can now be produced in a few minutes.

Easy Template design

ContractExpress.com provides the ease and speed of automating complex legal documents from legal templates without the complexity inherent in traditional document assembly tools. While other document assembly systems require templates to be created in a complex, proprietary or XML based computer language, ContractExpress.com's template design tool provides for intuitive, plain language mark-ups in Word. ContractExpress.com is developed by lawyers for use by lawyers.

No IT hassles

ContractExpress.com is a Cloud (or web-based) software service. There is no time consuming and expensive IT to buy or install. Simply register for our 60-day free trial and log in from any browser.*

Safe and secure

ContractExpress.com provides the highest levels of security. Users receive complete confidentiality and peace of mind. ContractExpress.com meets the most stringent security standards at data center, physical, system, operational and application levels. Ask for our security summary for more detailed information.

* Word 2007 is required to install the template design tool and help system.
