Family-Owned River Guide Business Offers Memorable Rogue River Rafting

A fantastic family rafting adventure with the emphasis on Family

(EMAILWIRE.COM, June 21, 2010) Grants Pass, Oregon - Tim and Kari O'Brien of O'Brien's Rogue River Outfitters (<http://www.obriensrogueriveroutfitters.com/>) have been famous in the Oregon whitewater rafting community since 2005. Kari's family taught her to love being around the Rogue River. She knows and loves every inch of the river, from the placid Grants Pass to the Wild and Scenic roaring rapids that make the Rogue River the destination of choice for adventure loving families everywhere.

"Of course, it's always exciting to go rafting down the Rogue," Kari says. "I'll never stop looking forward to my next whitewater rafting trip, because each experience is different.

"But my favorite part of every whitewater rafting adventure is seeing how much fun everyone loves being together, pulling together, and laughing together as they discover how special this river is. They tell me there's something special about Oregon rafting, the way it helps them leave behind their troubles or disagreements and find something new and exciting together."

Whitewater rafting has a way of bringing families together for a great experience they'll never forget. Rogue River Rafting has become synonymous with the family-owned O'Brien's Rogue River Rafting services.

Here's how one happy customer described the 15-mile excursion: "We have been traveling the West Coast of the United States for three weeks and this has been the best part of the trip! We had a great time. If we come back to the US we will definitely do this again with you!"

Co-owner Tim O'Brien is proud of how many ways his company has to make your vacation memorable, whether you've never tried whitewater rafting before, or know the Rogue River like the back of your hand.

"Families love having the owners take them rafting down the Rogue River and showing them all the special places that makes their first rafting trip together a new family tradition.

"We're proud of our oarsmanship and river knowledge; our guides are great with people and see every whitewater rafting trip as a great adventure!"

About O'Brien's Rogue River Rafting:

In 2005, the O'Brien's opened their own business after many years of guiding independently. Tim and Kari O'Brien took their first family down the Rogue River in Southern Oregon, internationally famous as one of the world's premier whitewater rafting sites.

Since that first family trip down-river, the O'Brien's have listened to their guests' needs and increased the number of services available. In addition to guided full day and half day whitewater rafting trips, they love to organize family raft camps and teen raft camps.

The full day trip puts guests in a Rogue Inflatable Raft, an inflatable kayak, or a combination of the two. It begins at 9:00 am and returns guests to their cars by 3:30 pm. A delicious lunch and refreshments are included.

The O'Brien's are great at making their guests feel comfortable, safe, and excited. That's no surprise, since they've served thousands of people, have over 30 years of experience as Oregon Rafting guides, and are always ready to customize a trip for any group or family.

Besides being fully qualified and licensed Whitewater Rafting outfitters, Kari and Tim are teachers in the state of Oregon. They love kids, and understand what it takes to bring families and the outdoors together for a safe, enjoyable and unifying experience. They are licensed boat operators, keep their first aid cards up to date, and are trained and certified in CPR.
