

Function Point partners with ConceptShare to Deliver a New, Integrated Online Project Management and Proofing Tool

New Integration Enables Function Point Users to Share Designs Online, Improving Collaboration with Clients and Colleagues.

Vancouver, British Columbia – June 3, 2010. Function Point www.functionpoint.com, a worldwide leader in CRM, project management, time tracking and invoicing software for advertising, design and web development companies, has joined forces with ConceptShare www.conceptshare.com to provide its clients with an integrated, next generation online proofing and collaboration tool.

“We are extremely excited to be announcing this partnership, and believe that the power of our software, combined with the added collaboration features of ConceptShare, will help our clients strengthen processes within their value chain and ultimately lead to increased profitability” states Chris Wilson, President and CEO of Function Point.

The new online tool enables designers to easily share their work with other designers, colleagues or clients, providing a more dynamic and collaborative experience, while accelerating the design process. The integration with Function Point’s system allows agencies to connect the design work directly to billable jobs and projects, task designers with the appropriate work, and communicate this directly to their clients and other stakeholders. It also gives management the ability to pull real-time reports on the profitability of any work being done.

About Function Point Productivity Software Inc.

Function Point is a world leader in online timesheet, project management and invoicing software for the creative industries. The company was founded in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada in 1997 and has been building online CRM, time sheet, project management and invoicing software since. The company continues to work hard at creating the perfect business tool and prides itself on its best-in-class customer service. For more information, please visit www.functionpoint.com.

Contacts: Function Point Productivity Software Inc. Chris Wilson (President and CEO) or Tate Lillies (Vice President of Business Operations) 604-731-2522 www.functionpoint.com