

Chuck Ealey Passion and Pursuit: A Winning Strategy for Life

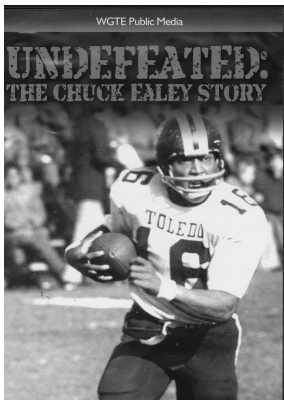

Determined to embrace a winning strategy in life led to success in sports, academics and business for Chuck Ealey. Chuck frames his experiences, speaking candidly and professionally to audiences about using passion to impact the pursuit of higher goals and values. Chuck challenges audiences to recognize the power of choices and to develop an undefeated spirit at all opportunities.

IN DETAIL

After completing an undefeated record in high school in Portsmouth, Ohio, Chuck received a football scholarship to the University of Toledo. While obtaining his degree in Business Economics, Chuck was Quarterback for the UT Rockets and led the team to a post a 35 - 0 college record. Chuck's record as the 'Perfect College Quarterback' stands today.

Despite his perfect record, Chuck was passed over in the National Football League draft to become a Pro Quarterback. Although offered other positions, Chuck remained committed to becoming a Professional Quarterback and chose the Canadian Football League, where the only thing that mattered were his abilities. In 1972, Chuck quarterback the Hamilton Tigercats to their Grey Cup Championship, and he was awarded Most Valuable Player.

Following his athletic career, Chuck became and remains a successful and well respected Director within the financial services industry. Speaking to a range of audiences from young people to corporate leaders, inmates and athletes, Chuck guides his audiences to reaffirm the positive and develop an Undefeated Spirit regardless of circumstances.
