SLAAA Announces Current Membership

Dallas, TX – September 28, 2010 – SLAAA, an association for firms that sell and service ERP systems who are committed to maintaining the highest ethical standards and sustaining professional growth, is pleased to announce membership for the current association year that begins this month. Membership in the alumni association is extended to all firms that have graduated from the Sage Leadership Academy or Upstream Academy’s Blueprint for Excellence.

“We value our SLAAA membership and the benefits we have continued to realize over our five-year membership,” said Jacki Tiso, CEO of JMT Consulting Group and a board member. “Membership gives us a tangible way of communicating that we are committed to the highest ethical standards, which is what our clients count on.”

SLAAA will host their fall retreat in Chicago in October. The retreat features VeraSage founder and business author, Ron Baker who will be presenting on the topic of ethics.
