Section I Training: The first component of training includes more than 40 hours of Manual study, chapter self-test completion, and participation in four ICM webinars given over twelve weeks. If a participant misses a scheduled webinar, the material can be addressed by viewing a recorded webcast of the session.

Section II Training: The second component is a one-day, face-to-face skills implementation session in which participants will perform mock complexity assessment interviews, score IM-CAGs related to completed interviews, develop a care plan, and learn to document outcomes as patients move toward graduation. A prerequisite for participation in the second component will be completion of the first.

At the completion of both components, participants must take and pass a comprehensive test on the ICM approach to case management. Those who pass the test will be given certificate of completion of the course and a permanent username with temporary password for use of the CMSA's ICM software. This can be used for ongoing clinical documentation of real patient in the participant's organization if their worksite does not have built in ICM software.
