FreelanceWriting.com Launches Video Tutorial Series to Help Aspiring Freelance Writers

FreelanceWriting.com, one of the most popular freelance writing websites since 1997, has debuted a free video tutorial series to help laid-off people and aspiring writers learn how to break into freelance writing and start a successful part-time or full-time writing career.

The most popular question many laid-off people or aspiring writers ask about freelance writing as a career is, "How do I get started?" There isn't a single answer to this question; there are many ways to get started. One such way is learning the tricks-of-the-trade via a video tutorial series, hosted by a professional freelancer.

Hosted by freelance writer, Joe O'Neill, and produced by FreelanceWriting.com founder, Brian Scott, each video chapter provides insights and answers into the most popular and pressing questions about freelance writing, such as: "How do I get started?," "What do I write about?," "How much do I get paid?," "How do I find freelance jobs?," "How do I market myself?," and "Can I really support myself with my writing?"

FreelanceWriting.com's video tutorial series contains approx. 60 video chapters, with a new video chapter released each week, covering a specific topic about freelance writing. Each video chapter runs between 3-6 minutes. In just one video chapter, aspiring writers can learn a lot about themselves and discover the inner-workings of a successful freelance writing career. Writers can watch the video tutorial series at <http://www.freelancewriting.com>.

Brian Scott founded FreelanceWriting.com in 1997 during his freelance copywriting career. Self-employed since 1996, Mr. Scott has worked as a freelance copywriter, PR specialist, graphic designer, and branding consultant. Writers always come to him for advice. "Every day I am inundated with questions about starting a freelance writing career," said Scott. "Creating a video tutorial series is my way to help aspiring writers with difficult questions, and for me to give back to my community who has supported my website for so long."

FreelanceWriting.com still remains a completely free website for aspiring and professional writers, providing real-time freelance writing jobs, current writing contests, expert career advice, and daily news.
